

Why don't you visit The EXPO2005 Aichi Japan ?

-- A plan QCAV recommends --

An hour trip from QCAV (Nagoya Congress Center) to the EXPO Nagakute site

- Go direct to the EXPO Nagakute site after QCAV closing on Friday, 20 (arrive at about 4:30 pm).
- Buy an Evening Discount Admission Ticket at a ticket booth of the EXPO site (2300 JPY, for visitors entering the site after 5:00 pm, available only at the EXPO site from 4:30 pm.)
- Be aware that bottles, cans, alcoholic beverages and food are prohibited from bringing into the site.
- Operation time of the Nagakute site: 9:00 am to 10:00 pm (many pavilions close at around 9:00 pm)
- There are many restaurants and food courts in the site.
- You may need to line up and wait for more than half hour to get into some popular pavilions.
- Be aware that the transportation will be very crowded around the closing time of the site.

QCAV's recommendation

- Next-Generation Vehicles
 - Linimo (from Fujigaoka to Banpaku Kaijo): Japan's first maglev linear-motor railway service
 - IMTS: Unmanned, automatic and platoon-operation buses on dedicated roads, 200 JPY/one-way
 - FCHV-BUS (operated between Nagakute site and Seto site): Fuel cell hybrid bus
- Corporate Pavilions
 - Toyota Group Pavilion, Hitachi Group Pavilion, Mitsubishi Pavilion, JR Central Pavilion, etc.
- Others
 - NEDO Pavilion, Global House (Frozen mammoth), etc.
